

COMMUNITY OUTREACH LIAISONS

Building Connections within our Client Communities.

Our community outreach liaisons specialize in building proactive community connections. We support the development of project teams including local, small, and diverse partners that complement the interests and values of the communities we serve. In collaboration with our project communication team, we coordinate engagement efforts on strategic projects with our community partners, ensuring stakeholder voices are reflected in the decision-making and implementation of our client's projects.

Benefits

- Understanding local issues and dynamics
- Relationships with local organizations with trusted representation
- We are in the community before, during, and after projects to ensure project success
- Creative processes that include partnerships with local organizations

Why Bolton & Menk

Bolton & Menk understands the importance of building relationships with various stakeholders in the communities we serve. Our community outreach liaisons help spur small business within our client communities and relate it back to the project being done.
