NATURAL DISASTERS RECOVERY

Swift Response, Compassionate in Action: Stronger Communities

Rapid Response

Natural disasters can strike in an instant, leaving communities to grapple with devastation. These events demand an organized, rapid response to restore essential operations promptly. The Bolton & Menk team is prepared to help. Whether dealing with tornadoes, hurricanes, landslides, rock falls, or flooding, we understand your priorities. We can quickly mobilize resources to address infrastructure needs, while ensuring public safety.

Why Bolton & Menk

Our passionate, well-trained experts recognize the importance of swift action to minimize public risks in the aftermath of a disaster. We also acknowledge that each disaster varies in duration and scale, with environmental or site conditions potentially exacerbating the damage or influencing response and recovery efforts.

Our national team can assist with developing plans and protocols that prepare your civic leaders and first responders to communicate quickly, assess the situation, and minimize chaos during a natural disaster—in the hours, days, and weeks that follow.
